4 Things Your Trade Show Crate Needs

Customized

No two trade show booths are the same right? So why would the trade show shipping crate be? Typically, shipping crates are custom designed to your trade show booth dimensions and feature internal & external technology to accommodate your needs.

Save Time

Valley Box trade show shipping crates are easy to identify by using paint and stencils to create clear communications. In the fast and frenzied trade show environment, being able to identify your crate helps eliminate confusion and save precious time. Another time saver is Valley Box's easy open feature. Quick, manual access is key to keeping the set-up process running smoothly and efficiently.

Durability

While some parts of your trade show booth may be durable and resist damage, others may be very fragile. Valley Box trade show boxes are designed to protect your entire booth and all parts thanks to foam, carpet lined surfaces, metal edged corners, casters, ramps, and pedestals.

Long Lasting

We understand the importance of maximizing your investment in our trade show shipping crates, so only the most durable materials are used in manufacturing our shipping solutions. This means, Valley Box shipping crates are made to last, so you can reuse them year after year.
